Perfect Pitch

Welcome to the Con in 2011

From the Director's Desk

During 2011 our focus will be on audience development. This does not mean merely getting more people to the concert hall, it means offering the community increased opportunities to participate in gaining knowledge and skills. The more we know the more we will want to know, and that means we will lessen the divide between audience and performer.

As in life our position changes from moment to moment and so it is with music. One moment we are the listener, the next the student and maybe next the performer.

All are closely linked, especially now with music being so entwined with the communications industry.

We also are anxious to know how you involve you and your children in the programme we have created and what part it plays in your life. The learning process in instrumental and vocal training is quite unique.

As a beginning we are conducting a 20 question survey which will be sent to all students with Term 2 accounts. The survey will also be available to complete on the Conservatorium website.

The Con is here to involve everyone in the world of music and for it to impact on their lives. Even if the only thing you do is drive your children to us for tuition that is enough; especially if they sing to you what they are learning on the way home.

Chris Bearman, OAM
Director

Welcome New Tutors!

The Conservatorium is delighted to welcome some new tutors into the fold in 2011.

Vanessa Ropa joins the Woodwind Department as a Flute teacher, bringing expertise on all forms of flute, from Piccolo to Bass Flute, including performances with the Sydney Sinfonia, Sydney Symphony and various chamber groups.

Vanessa studied her Bachelor and Masters degrees in music performance at Sydney Conservatorium with James Kortum, and researched posture and biomechanics in Flute and wind playing using Electromyography for her Masters thesis.

Adrian Bell joins the String Department, filling the shoes of departing tutor Trish McMeekin. Adrian studied Cello at the Guildhall School of Music in London before returning to Australia to teach. Adrian has appeared on numerous occasions with the Central Coast Symphony, Concertante Ensemble and other groups on the Central Coast.

We are delighted to welcome back Rachel Tolmie to the Woodwind Department, stepping back into her familiar place teaching the Oboe. Rachel of course is a familiar face to many around the Conservatorium, having taught the Oboe here for a number of years and also playing with the Central Coast Symphony. We would like to thank outgoing tutor (and former student of Rachel's) Matthew Bubb for filling Rachel's shoes for the last 18 months.

We are also sorry to announce that Alex Harris has returned home to Tasmania, and we certainly wish her well for the future.

Student Success

Congratulations to Christopher Higgins who was accepted into the Bachelor of Music (Jazz Studies) course at Sydney Conservatorium in 2011.

Chris was previously a student of David Dallinger, having started in the Conservatorium Schools Band program at Erina Heights Public School on the Saxophone. By the time he reached his HSC he played all four major saxophones (Soprano, Alto, Tenor and Baritone) as well as Clarinet.

Chris was the recipient of numerous scholarships and awards, including an A+ in A MEB 8th Grade Saxophone, 2nd Place in the Pearl Beach Progress Association Woodwind Scholarship, Highly Commended in the Senior Woodwind Scholarship, and he was also placed highly in the final of the 2009 Trevor Haines and Frank Streater Scholarship.

Congratulations also to Bradley Price who has made it into the third round of auditions for "Starstruck", an annual variety concert put on by the Department of Education to showcase talented students in the Hunter and Central Coast regions.

Tiana Young and Siena Palmer are to be commended for their recent exam results. Tiana received an A+ in 4th Grade Singing (Classical), and Siena an A in 4th Grade Singing for Leisure.

Lastly, congratulations to Eden Scott and Emily Arkell for their successful appearances in the recent GMS Juniors production of "Beauty and the Beast". The sellout production also saw Greg Bennett, Sarah Whyte and Amba Mercuri playing in the orchestra.

Audience Development in 2011 "Mysteries of the Masters"

2011 will see a new season of Audience Development projects, coinciding with the Central Coast Symphony Orchestra concert series.

"Mysteries of the Masters" is a series of four lectures being given by Phillip Rutherford at Gosford Regional Art Gallery. The first lecture, "German Romanticism Unmasked" to be held on March 27th will feature music of Brahms, Wagner and Richard Strauss, all of whom are featured in the first CCSO concert. There will also be discussions of the writings of Goethe, who influenced numerous composers during the 19th century. The lectures will also feature live music to accompany the discussion.

The second lecture on June 19th will be investigating operatic music through the ages. The third lecture on September 11th will dig into the history of Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven, and the final lecture on November 13th will look at the music of William Walton and Karl Jenkins, two 20th Century British composers.

And the bonus - those who come to the lectures receive a $10 discount off the price of a ticket to the corresponding CCSO concert.

Keep up with the kids!

For those who always wanted to read music but never got the chance to learn, Music Foundations is for you!

The Conservatorium is now offering a Music Foundations course - teaching the absolute basics of music - how to read music and how music works.

The course will also include rudimentary keyboard skills to give everyone the chance to learn how to apply the basics of music to an instrument.

The first Step 1 class will begin in Term 2 with Phillip Rutherford and will cost $140.

We need approximately 10 enrolments to commence this course, so if you're interested in coming to this class, or have any questions, please contact the office as soon as possible on 4324 7477.

We are trying to find the most suitable time to deliver 8 hours of tuition - either over two weekends with four hours each, or over four weeks at two hours a week on a weekday. If you're interested in the course we would like to hear your thoughts on what suits you.

Thank You, Paul Curtis

The Conservatorium is sad to announce the early retirement of Paul Curtis from our Woodwind Department. Although he had been planning on retiring in early 2012 anyway, Paul was forced into early retirement due to ongoing illness.

For nearly 20 years, Paul was Principal Flute with the Sydney Symphony Orchestra and he appeared as a concert soloist on numerous occasions. He received his professional debut in 1964 when he was the Commonwealth winner of the ABC Concerto and Vocal Competition, launching him into a career as a soloist and recording artist throughout Australia, the United Kingdom and America.

Paul was a member of the teaching staff of the Central Coast Conservatorium for many years and during that time has been responsible for developing many of our outstanding students in the Woodwind Department.

We wish Paul all the best in his retirement.

Paul Curtis

Concert Calendar - it's coming!

We would like to apologise for the delays in printing the 2011 Concert and Recital Calendar. Unfortunately due to unforeseen delays in confirming venues, artists and programmes it has taken much longer than usual to produce the calendar.

We are pleased to say that the calendars have finally arrived and you can pick up your copy from the Conservatorium, and they will be available soon from other locations including Avoca Beach Theatre, Lizotte's, Gosford Art Gallery and more.

2011 Summer Schools

January 2011 saw two Summer Schools in operation.

The Conservatorium String Department enjoyed another successful String Summer School held over the January holidays. The absence of some senior students gave some younger students the chance to step up to the mark and perform in some senior groups. The junior groups performed some very challenging repertoire under the guidance of Suzie Borrett, Karina Hollands and Alex Harris at a packed, and rather hot, Robert Knox Hall.

The reduced senior group made a start on some repertoire for the first major event of the year, Opera in the Arboretum. These students will be the nucleus of advanced playing in 2012 when we lose a large number of our current seniors. The String Department have high expectations of these players, some of whom show great promise.

On January 24th and 25th, David Dallinger held an Advanced Saxophone Workshop, which was attended by 13 Conservatorium saxophone students. The workshop focused on extended contemporary techniques such as the Altissimo (or extreme high) register, growling and multiphonics (where a player produces more than one note at a time). An advanced improvisation session with Luke Gallen was also held as part of the workshop. Students also worked in small chamber groups, including both quartets and duets, as well as playing in a combined Saxophone Ensemble.

Both summer schools were very successful and well attended, and provided an excellent way to start the new year for all involved.
