About Regional Youth Orchestra NSW

Since 2016, RYO NSW has been nurturing young talent from regional areas, providing unparalleled opportunities for musical growth and collaboration.

RYO NSW represents the finest young musicians from regional areas across New South Wales and is a project of the Association of NSW Regional Conservatoriums. RYO NSW provides high-level performance opportunities and nurture the next generation of musical talent. Through intense rehearsals, masterclasses, and performances, these young musicians gain invaluable experience that prepares them for professional careers in music.

This tour - a rare and invaluable opportunity for 50 of the top young musicians from regional NSW- represents their first international venture, showcasing the exceptional skills of our talented regional musicians on a global stage.

Support our Central Coast musicians

Our seven representatives - Ehryn Bala (viola), Jasmine Bridgland (violin), Xavier Cardozo (bassoon), Emma Deed (flute), Kaito Deed (violin), Dana Hamilton (bassoon) and Jacob Smart will be among the 50+ top young regional NSW musicians embarking on the tour - many of whom may not often have access to international platforms due to geographical and financial barriers.
