

Potential Volunteer Roles @ The Con as at 04/02/24

At the Central Coast Conservatorium of Music, volunteers can play various important roles in supporting its music programs and community outreach efforts. Some potential volunteer responsibilities may include:

1. Event Assistance: Helping organise and run concerts, student recitals, and special performances. Volunteers might assist with ticket sales, ushering, and event setup/cleanup and student supervision.
2. Library and Archival Support: Assisting in the maintenance and cataloguing of the Conservatorium's library, which houses a collection of sheet music and other resources. Volunteers could help in cataloguing materials, organising archives, and managing music scores for students and staff.
3. Fundraising Support: Assisting in fundraising campaigns, such as organising donation drives, promoting sponsorship opportunities, or helping with events aimed at generating financial support for music scholarships and programs.
4. Garden and Grounds Maintenance: Assisting in maintaining existing grounds and creating new spaces that currently have little or no garden planning. Creation of new front gardens would assist the Conservatorium to have a nicer feel and look and invite more students to attend classes. There are also lawns to be mowed on a regular basis and weeds to be controlled.
5. Transport of Instruments: At often times we need to transport music stands and large instruments to concerts. We currently hire a van and any assistance in driving, loading and unloading the van would be helpful.
6. Maintenance of Instruments: We currently have a hire instrument business, it would be helpful if suitably experienced musicians were able to help in the repair and maintenance of our current instruments as well as the cataloguing of instruments in the instrument room.
7. Historic Tours of the Con: We currently give tours to engage with the community regarding our historic building and Conservatorium history. It would be nice to have community tours once a week with a complimentary tea and coffee afterwards.
